

Call for Nominations: OSF Research Impact Award

As part of the 2026 Annual Research Symposium, OSF HealthCare is pleased to recognize an individual whose work exemplifies excellence and impact in research across our health system.

The OSF Research Impact Award honors a research professional who demonstrates outstanding dedication to advancing science while improving the health of the patients and communities we serve.

This award reflects the spirit of National Clinical Trials Day, recognizing the many individuals across our system who contribute to research that transforms care. The winner will be announced at the 2026 Annual Research Symposium on Wednesday, May 20.

The deadline for nominations is April 22.

Eligibility

Nominees may include any OSF-affiliated research professional, including but not limited to:

- Investigators and physician scientists
- Research coordinators and nurses
- Research administrators
- Pharmacists
- Statisticians and data scientists
- Regulatory or compliance professionals
- Research support staff

All disciplines and areas of research are welcome, including:

- Clinical trials
- Translational research
- Nursing or EBP research
- Population health research
- Innovation and improvement research

Nominate today