

The top cause of preventable death in traumatic injuries is bleeding

20% of people who have died from traumatic injuries could have survived with quick bleeding control.

“Stop the Bleed” is a national campaign to address the most common cause of preventable trauma death in the nation: uncontrolled bleeding.

The Central Illinois Coalition Active in Response Planning is offering free “Stop the Bleed” courses throughout Central Illinois. These courses are open to Law Enforcement and First Response Agencies (Fire, EMS)
